Assisted Living Residence (ALR): Assisted Living Residences (ALRs) provide more supervision and personal care than standard adult care facilities, with private living spaces and more comprehensive services than adult homes or enriched housing programs. Enriched homes, on the other hand, offer some assistance with daily activities like meals, housekeeping, and medication management but with less intensive support than ALRs.

Notice: New York State licenses and oversees adult care facilities that provide non-medical, long-term residential care for adults who cannot live independently due to age or disabilities. These facilities offer personal care, supervision, and daily living assistance but do not provide medical or nursing care. Operators must be certified, follow state regulations, and undergo inspections to ensure resident safety and well-being.

As you become familiar with adult care facilities and their programs, we encourage you to visit facilities, speak with the staff and residents, and review the recent inspection reports available at the facility and from the New York State Department of Health, Adult Care Facility Complaint Hotline, telephone number 1-866-893-6772, or visit their website at http://www.health.ny.gov/facilities/adult_care/.
