

Volunteers with PCR test identified COVID-19 Needed for a Research Study

Researchers at the University at Buffalo are looking for adult volunteers with COVID-19 to provide blood samples to evaluate a blood test that could help with COVID-19 identification.

You May Qualify If You

- Symptoms present for 25 days or less
- No bleeding or clotting disorders and do not faint at the sight of blood
- Have documentation of a positive PCR test and willing to provide a copy
- If vaccinated willing to show proof of vaccination

Participation Involves

- Prick your finger and obtain a blood sample at home using a home collection kit
- Return the kit by pre-paid courier
- This takes 1-2 hours to complete

Participants will be compensated $45.
