A. Introduction

Municipal Authority

- Zoning: Regulation of the use of land.
- Police Powers: regulate to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the community.
- "Because Zoning is a legislative act, zoning ordinances and amendments enjoy a strong presumption of constitutionality and the burden rests on the party attacking them to overcome that presumption beyond a reasonable doubt. [ ] In claims such as this, the analysis follows traditional due process rules: if the zoning ordinance is adopted for a legitimate governmental purpose and there is a 'reasonable relation between the end sought to be achieved by the regulation and the means used to achieve that end,' it will be upheld. [ ] An amendment which has been carefully studied, prepared and considered meets the general requirement for a well-considered plan and satisfies the statutory requirement. [ ] The court will not pass on its wisdom."
- Asian Americans for Equality v. Koch, 72 N.Y.2d 121, 131-132 (1988).

Zoning and the Constitution

The concerns addressed by zoning are at the center of the state's police power, to safeguard "the public health, safety, morals, or general welfare." Vill. of Euclid v. Ambler Realty Co., 272 U.S. 365, 395 (1926). Only when municipalities stray from the proper exercise of that power is the Constitution at issue.

Code Interpretation

- Who interprets the zoning code in the first instance?
  - Quentin Rd. Development, LLC v. Collins, 150 A.D.3d 859 (2d Dep't 2017).
    - NYC Department of Buildings ("DOB") determined that a provision of the zoning ordinance setting forth a maximum permitted floor-to-area ratio for a portion of a building applied.
    - Following the DOB determination, the NYC Board of Standards and Appeals ("BSA") upheld the DOB determination.
    - The Court held that a determination of the BSA may not be set aside in the absence of illegality, arbitrariness, or abuse of discretion.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Code Interpretation

- What is the remedy for an aggrieved party?
  - Sullivan v. Albany Bd. of Zoning, 144 A.D.3d 1480 (3d Dep't 2016).
    - Church notified City of its intention to establish a "home base" for up to 14 homeless individuals in its parsonage. Church asked the City whether it needed a use variance.
    - City ZEO responded that the proposed use was not for a "house of worship" and stated that a use variance was required.
    - Thereafter, the church sought an interpretation from the ZBA whether this use was permitted.
    - ZBA found that the proposed use is consistent with the mission and actions of a house of worship and that no additional zoning exemptions or permissions are necessary.
    - Neighbor commenced an Article 78 proceeding.
    - Supreme Court annulled the ZBA's determination.

Definitions Are Key

- Atkinson v. Wilt, 94 A.D.3d 1218 (3d Dep't 2012).
  - Petitioners own lakeshore property in the Town of Arietta
  - Property located in a single- or multi-family residential zoning district.
  - The structure is a 6-bedroom residence.
  - Petitioners bought the property in 2009, joined the Chamber of Commerce, and began marketing their property for short-term rentals on the internet.
  - Neighbors complained about short-term rentals.
  - The ZEO determined Petitioners were operating a tourist accommodation in violation of the zoning code.
  - The ZBA affirmed.
  - Petitioners then commenced an Article 78 proceeding.
  - Supreme Court granted the petition and annulled the ZBA's determination.
  - The Town appealed.

Definitions Are Key

- Atkinson v. Wilt, 94 A.D.3d 1218 (3d Dep't 2012).
  - "Although a reviewing court typically will grant great deference to the ZBA's interpretation of a zoning ordinance — disturbing that interpretation "only if it is irrational or unreasonable — where, as here, the issue presented is one of pure legal interpretation of the underlying zoning law or ordinance, deference is not required."
  - "Further, zoning regulations, being in derogation of the common law, must be strictly construed against the municipality which has enacted and seeks to enforce them, and any ambiguity in the language used must be resolved in favor of the property owner."
  - Petitioners contend that Town's definition of "tourist attraction" does not encompass their property.
  - Town definitions held to govern: "Applying these definitions to the record before us, we agree with Supreme Court that the ZBA's characterization of petitioners' property as a tourist accommodation is irrational."

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Code Interpretation

- Holding: Reversed. Zoning Board's decision was reinstated.
  - ZBA is afforded great deference; decision disturbed only if unreasonable or irrational
  - Pure interpretation vs. factual issue
  - If no defined term, court will afford the term its plain or ordinary meaning
  - Ambiguity resolved in favor of the property owner.
  - What is the meaning of "worship"? Black's Law Dictionary "any act of religious devotion"

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Code Interpretation

- Where "the language of a[n ordinance] is clear and unambiguous, courts must give effect to its plain meaning." Matter of Tall Trees Constr. Corp. v. Zoning Bd. of Appeals of Town of Huntington, 97 N.Y.2d 86, 91 (2001).
- While courts will afford boards broad discretion and will generally defer to their decisions, where the issue "is one of pure legal interpretation of [the code's] terms, deference to the zoning board is not required." Fox v. Town of Geneva Zoning Bd. of Appeals, 176 A.D.3d 1576, 1577 (4th Dep't 2019).

Zoning Requirements

- "Because Zoning is a legislative act, zoning ordinances and amendments enjoy a strong presumption of constitutionality and the burden rests on the party attacking them to overcome that presumption beyond a reasonable doubt. [ ] In claims such as this, the analysis follows traditional due process rules: if the zoning ordinance is adopted for a legitimate governmental purpose and there is a 'reasonable relation between the end sought to be achieved by the regulation and the means used to achieve that end,' it will be upheld. [ ] An amendment which has been carefully studied, prepared and considered meets the general requirement for a well-considered plan and satisfies the statutory requirement. [ ] The court will not pass on its wisdom."
- Asian Americans for Equality v. Koch, 72 N.Y.2d 121, 131-132 (1988).

Regulating Land Use/Operational Details

- Bonefish Grill, LLC v. Zoning Bd. of Rockville Centre, 153 A.D.3d 1394 (2d Dep't 2017)
- ZBA conditioned the variance from parking requirements on limiting hours of operation to those where use of the adjacent parking lot were allowed and upon use of valet parking.
- Request to annul conditions put in place by Zoning Board was denied.
- "Here, the ZBA's conditions requiring valet parking and limiting the petitioner's hours of operation to coincide with the hours of access to the 40 off-street parking spaces granted in the license agreement were proper because the conditions related directly to the use of the land and were intended to protect the neighboring commercial properties from the potential adverse effects of the petitioner's operation, such as the anticipated increase in traffic congestion and parking problems"

Regulating Land Use/Operational Details

- "[Z]oning boards may not impose conditions which are unrelated to the purposes of zoning. Thus, a zoning board may not condition a variance upon a property owner's agreement to dedicate land that is not the subject of the variance application. Nor may a zoning board impose a condition that seeks to regulate the details of the operation of an enterprise, rather than the use of the land on which the enterprise is located." St. Onge v. Donovan, 71 N.Y.2d 507, 516 (1988).
- "We find the imposition of this condition was no more than an impermissible attempt to regulate the details of the operation of the petitioner's enterprise" - Old Country Burgers Co. v. Town Bd. of Town of Oyster Bay, 160 A.D.2d 805, 806 (2d Dep't 1990)

B. Recent Case Law

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Nunnally v. Zoning Bd. of Appeals of Town of Windsor, 217 A.D.3d 950 (2d Dep't 2023)

- Deference to boards
- "Local zoning boards have broad discretion in considering variance applications, and judicial review is limited to determining whether the action taken by the board was illegal, arbitrary and capricious, or an abuse of discretion . . . the record demonstrates that the [Zoning Board of Appeals] engaged in the required balancing test and considered the relevant statutory factors in granting the area variance" id. at 953 (internal quotations omitted)
- Impact: courts defer to determinations of local zoning boards.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Elizabeth St. Garden, Inc. v. City of New York, 217 A.D.3d 599 (1st Dep't 2023)

- Deference to boards
- Challenges to a planned low-income senior housing development
- Court found that NYC Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) appropriately identified relevant areas of concern, took a "hard look" at them, and reasonably elaborated on the basis of its determination
  - Properly analyzed the open spaces in the half-mile study area
  - Rationally concluded that no detailed assessment of neighborhood character was warranted
- Impact: planning commission decisions receive deference from courts, as long as they follow proper procedures

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Gutman v. Covert Town Bd., 222 A.D.3d 1357 (4th Dep't 2023)

- Deference to boards
- Board interpreted zoning rules to prevent Petitioners from modifying their property.
  - Petitioners allege that Board's interpretation was irrational and not supported by substantial evidence
- Court stated that it can only set aside zoning board determinations when the board (1) acted illegally or arbitrarily; (2) abused its discretion; or (3) succumbed to generalized community pressure
  - Court also stated that it sustains zoning board determinations when the board had a rational basis for its decision based on substantial evidence
- Court sustained Board determination because Board considered the law and relevant facts to determine whether a cottage was a "dwelling"
- Impact: zoning board determinations receive deferential treatment from courts

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Town of Beekman v. Town Bd. of Town of Union Vale, 219 A.D.3d 1430 (2d Dep't 2023)

- Conflicts with zoning laws
- Union Vale approved construction of a telecom tower on property owned by Union Vale but located in Beekman.
- Town Board of Union Vale determined that the tower was exempt from Beekman's local zoning law
- Where the local zoning laws of two governmental entities conflict, courts balance the public interest to determine which law applies
  - Factors: nature and scope of instrumentality seeking immunity, the kind of land use involved, public interest, effect of regulation, and impact upon legitimate local interests

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Town of Beekman v. Town Bd. of Town of Union Vale, 219 A.D.3d 1430 (2d Dep't 2023)

- Court held that Town Board properly considered all factors
  - Tower would serve the public interest by remedying a gap in cell coverage and aiding emergency services
  - Benefits flowing to the private company building the tower does not undermine these public purposes
- Impact: Courts balance the public interest to apply conflicting zoning laws, and a development project that benefits a private party can still serve the public interest

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Friends of the Shawangunks v. Town of Gardiner Plan. Bd., 224 A.D.3d 961 (3d Dep't 2024)

- SEQRA and standing
- Organization challenged Board's grant of special use permit for residential construction within a Protection District
- Organizations have standing if one or more members would have standing. The members have standing if they suffer harm different in kind or degree from the public at large
  - A mere interest in environmental conservation does not confer standing
- After finding standing, the court affirmed the grant of the special use permit because courts defer to board SEQRA determinations when the board identifies areas of environmental concern, takes a hard look at them, and provides a reasoned elaboration of the grounds for its determination
- Impact: organizational standing to challenge zoning and land use decisions cannot come from mere interest in environmental conservation

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Jellyfish Prop.'s, LLC v. Inc. Vill. Of Greenport, 220 A.D.3d 778 (2d Dep't 2023)

- SEQRA
- Village Board of Trustees adopted a resolution prohibiting short-term rentals
- Petitioners, owners of residential property that they used as short-term rentals, alleged that Board failed to comply with State Environmental Quality Review Act (SEQRA)
  - SEQRA obligates the government to balance an action's potential adverse environmental impact against the action's social and economic benefits
- Courts can review SEQRA determinations only for (1) procedural violations; (2) errors of law; (3) arbitrary and capricious action; or (4) abuse of discretion.
- Here, Board properly considered SEQRA because Board held two days of public hearings, received written comments, took a hard look at relevant areas of environmental concern, and elaborated on their determination
- Impact: boards can avoid scrutiny of their SEQRA determinations by acting thoroughly

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Hofstra Univ. v. Nassau Cnty. Plan. Comm'n, 80 Misc. 1237(A), 2023 N.Y. Slip Op. 51181(U) (Sup. Ct., Nassau Cnty. 2023)

- SEQRA
- County wanted to lease property to a casino operator; plaintiffs challenged this lease
- Court held, in part, that the County Legislature engaged in improper segmentation under SEQRA
  - Improper segmentation: decision making body does not take the "hard look" at the relevant areas of environmental concern under SEQRA
- Court reasoned that County Legislature engaged in improper segmentation by considering the impact of the transfer of site control, but not the impact of the planned development on that site

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Boise v. City of Plattsburgh, 219 A.D.3d 1050 (3d Dep't 2023)

- SEQRA
- City wanted a mixed-use development in the downtown area
- City Common Council identified two SEQRA concerns, the common loon and soil contamination
- Court held that Council did not take "hard look" at either concern
  - Loons: Council pointed out that project, which was not on lakeshore, would not impact loons because loons prefer open water away from people. Council should have considered whether the development would increase usage of the lake, or impact the waterfront in any way
  - Soil contamination: Council failed to provide any mitigation efforts
- Impact: municipalities must take a "hard look" and SEQRA concerns by thoroughly examining each concern

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

A Note on SEQRA

- SEQRA requires agencies
- (1) identify all areas of relevant environmental concern;
- (2) thoroughly evaluate the identified areas - - known as the "hard look" requirement; and then
- (3) issue a reasoned elaboration for the determination of significance - - that is the negative or positive declaration. At issue here is a negative declaration that the Planning Board has issued time and time again even after remand by this Court.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

SEQRA Compliance

- "Literal compliance with the letter and spirit of SEQRA is required, and substantial compliance with SEQRA is not sufficient to discharge an agency's responsibility under the act." Matter of Rochester Eastside Residents for Appropriate Dev., Inc. v. City of Rochester, 150 A.D.3d 1678, 1679 (4th Dep't 2017) (annulling negative declaration).

City of New York v. Ball, 80 Misc.3d 1077 (Sup. Ct., Albany Cnty. 2023)

- Conflicting laws
- The City challenged a Department of Ag and Markets determination that the City's local law on the grounds unreasonably restricted or regulated farming operations and contravened the Agriculture and Markets Law.
- The local law concerned force feeding birds to produce fatty livers used for foie gras.
- As required, the local law was referred to the NYS Department of Ag and Markets for consistency review.
- The Department observed a likely conflict, and invited the City to respond to the issues raised.
- The City contended the local law was not in conflict because it did not directly impact farm operations, and instead was meant to curtail an inhumane practice observed in public hearings.

City of New York v. Ball, 80 Misc.3d 1077 (Sup. Ct., Albany Cnty. 2023)

- The Department determined the local law violated the Ag and Markets Law.
- Court held that agency determination was arbitrary and capricious because the agency based its review of legislative history on two brief quotes from a voluminous legislative record.
- Impact: if an agency determination requires an interpretation of legislative history, the agency must thoroughly review the legislative history to avoid making an arbitrary and capricious decision.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Town of Copake v. N.Y. State Off. of Renewable Energy Sitting, 216 A.D.3d 93 (3d Dep't 2023)

- Preemption
- Town alleges that defendant state agency (ORES) does not have authority to preempt local laws through a waiver provision
  - Waiver provision: allows case-by-case waivers of local zoning and land use laws when determined to be unreasonably burdensome.
- ORES wavier provision is not ultra vires because the enabling statute grants ORES waiver power, and unreasonably burdensome local laws thwart the goals of New York's energy policy
- ORES waiver provision complies with New York's constitutional home rule provision because ORES waiver provision applies equally to all municipalities, and energy policy is a matter of state concern
- Impact: ORES retains the power to waive unreasonably burdensome local zoning and land use laws

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

301 E. 66th St. Condo Corp. v. City of New York, 224 A.D.3d 423 (1st Dep't 2024)

- Spot zoning
- Challenge of city's approval of rezoning and special permit applications for a proposed blood lab and donation center on the grounds that the city engaged in "spot zoning"
  - Spot zoning: singling out a small parcel of land for a use that differs from that of the surrounding area for the benefit of the owner of that small parcel and to the detriment of others
- Court says that city did not engage in spot zoning because the city brought nonconforming lots into the rezoned area as part of a comprehensive plan to encourage the life sciences industry
- Impact: municipalities can avoid spot zoning challenges by bringing other properties into the plan and creating a comprehensive goal to benefit the community

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Cobleskill Stone Prods., Inc. v. Town of Schoharie, 222 A.D.3d 1122 (3d Dep't 2023)

- Prior non-conforming use
- Owner of quarry sought prior nonconforming use exemption from zoning law requiring special use permits to mine
  - Specifically, Owner wanted exemption for land that he purchased following the enaction of the zoning law, but that he has not used for mining
- Court reasons that a landowner can establish prior nonconforming use for unused land when (1) landowner engages in substantial economic activity on property; (2) economic and practical necessity require leaving some land in reserve; and (3) landowner intended to eventually use the property for an ascribed purpose when the zoning ordinance became effective.
  - Here, Owner did not engage in substantial quarrying activity or intend to use the land left in reserve
- Impact: some landowners can establish prior nonconforming use exceptions based on land left untouched out of economic necessity

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Buenos Hill, Inc. v. City of Saratoga Springs, 223 A.D.3d 1030 (3d Dep't 2024)

- Selective enforcement
- Petitioners alleged that N.Y. Dep't of Transportation (DOT) violated their Fourteenth Amendment rights by denying a special use application and ordering removal of a fence in the state's right-of-way
  - Specifically, petitioners alleged that DOT effectively imposed a permitting requirement by ordering a fence removed, and that such a permitting requirement did not apply to other businesses in the vicinity
- Court dismissed challenge to denial of special use application as not ripe for review because planning board merely issued recommendation letters
- Court dismissed selective enforcement challenge because petitioners cannot show how they were treated differently from other businesses
- Impact: plaintiffs cannot challenge recommendation letters from a board

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Lost Lake Holdings LLC v. Town of Forestburgh, 225 A.D.3d 1020 (3d Dep't 2024)

- Escrow agreements
- Developer planned construction project for resort community in Town
  - Pursuant to Town's Planned Development District Law, Developer placed funds in an escrow account to reimburse costs incurred by Town during review and approval process
- Petitioners purchased the project, becoming beneficiaries of Developer's escrow funds
  - Petitioners alleged that Town breached fiduciary duties by using escrow funds for legal and engineering consultants to review future applications
- Court held that (1) no fiduciary duties attached because the funds were not held in trust by an independent third party; and (2) Town reasonably determined that it needed consultants to assist with factual disputes
- Impact: if a municipality wants to use a similar escrow system with fiduciary duties, it needs an independent third party to hold the money in trust

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Bowers Dev., LLC v. Oneida Cnty. Indus. Dev. Agency, 224 A.D.3d 1240 (4th Dep't 2024)

- Eminent domain
- County wanted to use eminent domain to acquire property to build a parking lot for a newly constructed private medical center
- Petitioners alleged that county exercised eminent domain improperly because the parking lot does not serve public use, benefit, or purpose
- Court reasoned that exercise of eminent domain did serve a public use of mitigating parking and traffic congestion, and that a private development causing the traffic congestion is not determinative
- Impact: municipalities can use eminent domain to serve a public use even when that public use addresses problems arising out of private conduct

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Huntley Power, LLC v. Town of Tonawanda, 217 A.D.3d 1325 (4th Dep't 2023)

- Eminent domain
- Town wanted to use eminent domain to seize industrial property to provide industrial employers with water access
  - Town then planned to sell the industrial property to private developers
- Petitioners challenged Town's use of eminent domain on the grounds that (1) it served no public purpose; and (2) it violated the Takings Clause
- Court holds that (1) condemnation served the public purposes of redeveloping former industrial property and providing employers with cheap water for manufacturing; and (2) condemnation did not violate the Takings Clause because condemning substandard real estate for private developers constitutes public use
  - Dissent argued that condemnation here did violate the Takings Clause because the government provided an economic benefit to the private developers and incidental benefits to the public
- Impact: municipalities can use eminent domain to seize substandard property to sell to private developers

C. Notable Issues and Cases

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Short-Term Rentals

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Wallace v. Grand Island, 184 A.D.3d 1088 (4th Dep't 2020)

- Local Law No. 9 of 2015 amending the Town Code by prohibiting short-term rentals of less than thirty days, except in homes occupied by the homeowner (bed-and-breakfast facilities).
- One-year amortization period to allow pre-existing short-term rentals to terminate. It also permitted affected individuals to apply for an extension of the amortization period to allow additional time (up to three years), provided the applicant met certain criteria. Those criteria track the requirements for the granting of a use variance under N.Y. Town Law § 267-b.

Wallace v. Grand Island, 184 A.D.3d 1088 (4th Dep't 2020)

- Petitioner initially sought the one-year extension under the amortization period, which the Town denied. Petitioner did not challenge this denial.
- Then Petitioner sought a use variance. Again, because he failed to meet his burden, the Town denied this application.
- Petitioner commenced an Article 78 challenge seeking to overturn the denial of the use variance and the constitutionality of Local Law, which he alleged constituted a taking.
- Supreme Court dismissed the Petition, and an appeal ensued.
- On appeal the Petitioner limited his brief to the constitutionality and takings issues, thereby abandoning the challenge to the use variance denial.

Wallace v. Grand Island, 184 A.D.3d 1088 (4th Dep't 2020)

- The Fourth Department affirmed, holding that Petitioner did not meet his burden to invalidate the Local Law or prove that the law effectuated a taking.
- Key to the Court's rationale was Petitioner's own evidence, which showed that he could use the property for other lawful purposes: as a residence or as a rental with a long-term tenant. He could also sell the property. The use as a short-term rental, which was prohibited, was not the only option.
- "Indeed, plaintiff's submissions demonstrated that he had some economically viable uses for the subject premises, i.e., selling it at a profit or renting it on a long-term basis. It is immaterial that plaintiff cannot use the property for the precise manner in which he intended because a property owner 'is not constitutionally entitled to the most beneficial use of his [or her] property.'" Wallace, 184 A.D.3d at 1091 (emphasis and brackets in original).

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Other Cases on Short-Term Rentals

- Jane Eiseman, et al. v. Village of Bellport, et al., 2020 N.Y. Slip Op. 31941(U)(Sup. Ct., Suffolk Cnty. 2020) (Index No. 003374/2018).
  - Village law held arbitrary, capricious, and unconstitutional due to failure to substantiate any reasons set forth in legislative intent. The mayor failed to answer questions about how the law would help "prevent neighborhood blight," "protect residential property values," or "manage the effects of village amenities."
- Calvey, et al. v. Town Board of North Elba, et al., Case 8:20-cv-00711-TJM-CFH (N.D.N.Y. 2021)
  - Court dismissed a number of claims (but not all) related to short-term rentals regulations.
- Cradit v. Southold Town Zoning Board of Appeals, 179 A.D.3d 1058 (2d Dep't. 2020).
  - "The Board correctly determined that Cradit's use of the residence for short-term rentals was 'similar to a hotel/motel use,' which had never been a permissible use in her zoning district." Cradit, 179 A.D.3d at 1060.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Takeaways for Municipalities

- When regulating short-term rentals, look to what other communities are doing.
- Work with Town Attorney or special counsel as there is higher potential for litigation.
- Make a good record during the public hearing and in legislative findings.
- Consider amortization period to allow for nonconforming uses to terminate. Offer possible extension of period if certain criteria are satisfied.
- Look to existing zoning code and comprehensive plan. But don't rely on old zoning codes to regulate short-term rentals.
- Even where you have a solid basis, courts are siding with property owners.
- Can't rely on traditional deference to municipalities.
- You can prohibit them by specifically defining them.
- In many cases, there will be a need to develop a comprehensive ordinance.

Public Utility Variance Standard

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

What is the Public Utility Variance Standard?

- Planners are used to the variance standards set out in the zoning enabling statutes (such as Town Law Article 16). And most planners are aware that local municipalities cannot deviate from those standards. Cohen v. Bd. of App. of Village of Saddle Rock, 100 N.Y.2d 395(2003).
- But the Court of Appeals has carved out a significant exception for zoning variances requested by "Public Utilities." Rather than the standard variance rules, a public necessity test is applied.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

The Court of Appeals Creates the PUV Standard

- The Court of Appeals first formally articulated the PUV Standard in Consol. Edison Co. of New York v. Hoffman, 43 N.Y.2d 598, 610 (1978)
- ConEd had to upgrade the cooling system at a nuclear facility, requiring both use and area variances. After the Buchanan ZBA denied the variances, the Supreme Court reversed and the Appellate Division affirmed the reversal, largely on federal preemption grounds as the upgrade had been approved by federal regulators. The Court of Appeals affirmed, but first noted it was unnecessary to go beyond state law to reach that conclusion.

The Hoffman PUV Standard

- The court stated the traditional tests for use and area variances, "are not appropriate where a public utility such as Con Edison seeks a variance, since the land may be usable for a purpose consistent with the zoning law, the uniqueness may be the result merely of the peculiar needs of the utility, and some impact on the neighborhood is likely."
- The court noted that zoning boards had to look at more than local values, and in particular at the role placed on utilities by the public service law.
- This required wider consideration is an essential takeaway for planners

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

What is a Public Utility?

- The rules for what are considered Public Utilities are much broader then might be expected. They not only include the well-known private utilities such as Con Ed and NYSEG, but they also include the cellular telephone companies and renewable energy projects.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Determining Public Utility Status

- The issue arose in Cellular Tel. Co. v. Rosenberg, 82 N.Y.2d 364 (1993) where a use variance was denied to a cellular telephone company under the traditional use variance test, in part because of a lack of evidence "that there exists a public necessity for its service, or what the need of the broader public is relating to such service, or that it is a public utility relating to the zoning ordinance." 82 N.Y.2d at 370-372.

Determining Public Utility Status

- The Court identified three key Characteristics:
- (1) the essential nature of the services offered which must be taken into account when regulations seek to limit expansion of facilities which provide the services
- (2) operation under a franchise, subject to some measure of public regulation; and
- (3) logistic problems, such as the fact that '[t]he product of the utility must be piped, wired, or otherwise served to each user … the supply must be maintained at a constant level to meet minute-by-minute need[, and] [t]he user has no alternative source [and] the supplier commonly has no alternative means of delivery. 82 NY2d at 371 (quotations and internal citations omitted).

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Renewable Projects are Public Utilities Under the PUV Test

- Courts have held routinely that renewable energy projects are public utilities.
- Wind: W. Beekmantown Neighborhood Ass'n, Inc. v. Zoning Bd. of Appeals of Town of Beekmantown, 53 A.D.3d 954, 956 (3d Dep't 2008) Wind Power Ethics Grp. (WPEG) v. Zoning Bd. of Appeals of Town of Cape Vincent, 60 A.D.3d 1282, 1283 (4th Dep't 2009)
- Solar: Delaware River Solar, LLC, et al. v. Town of Aurora Zoning Bd. of Appeals, Index No. 808123/2022 (Sup. Ct. Erie Cnty. Nov. 7, 2022); Cipriani Energy Grp. Corp. v. Zoning Bd. of Appeals of the Town of Minetto, New York et al., EFC-2022-0043 (Sup. Ct. Oswego Cnty. Apr. 12, 2022)

- Creates Chapter 7-a (Cannabis Law) of the Consolidated Laws (§§ 1-139)
- Consolidates NYS's existing medical marihuana and cannabinoid hemp program with NY's adult use cannabis program under the control off the OCM and CCB

What Say do Municipalities Have?

- If not opted out by December 31, 2021, deadline, which has now passed, you may be dealing with applications and questions in your locality.
- Cannabis Law § 131 – State Preemption
  - "[A]ll county, town, city and village governing bodies are hereby preempted from adopting any law, rule, ordinance, regulation or prohibition pertaining to the operation or licensure of registered organization, adult-use cannabis licenses, or cannabinoid hemp licenses." Cannabis Law § 131(2).
  - "However, towns, cities and villages may pass local laws and regulations governing the time, place and manner of the operation of licensed adult-use cannabis retail dispensaries and/or on-site consumption site, provided such law or regulation does not make the operation of such licensed retail dispensaries or on-site consumption sites unreasonably impracticable as determined by the board."

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

What does "Unreasonably Impracticable" Mean?

- Local laws cannot make the operation of licensed retail dispensaries or on-site consumption businesses "unreasonably impracticable."
- What is "unreasonably impracticable" is left up to the discretion of the Cannabis Control Board ("CCB") (Cannabis Law § 131(2)).
  - How is it determined?
  - In what context?
  - Burden of proof?

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Comparative Standards of "Unreasonably Impracticable"

- Michigan: "The measures necessary to comply with the rules or ordinances adopted pursuant to this act subject licensees to unreasonable risk or require such a high investment of money, time, or any other resource or asset that a reasonably prudent businessperson would not operate the marihuana establishment." Michigan Regulation and Taxation of Marihuana Act § 333.27953(3)(x).
- Massachusetts: Local laws cannot "subject licensees to unreasonable risk or require such a high investment of risk, money, time or any other resource or asset that a reasonably prudent businessperson would not operate a marijuana establishment." Mass. General Laws Ch. 94G § 1.
- New York: To be determined at this time by the Cannabis Control Board.

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Compliance with Zoning Law

- Municipalities retain zoning authority as MRTA is silent as to zoning requirements (except for schools and houses of worship).
- Locations near schools and houses of worship. "No cannabis retail licensee shall locate a storefront within five hundred feet of a school grounds as such term is defined in the education law or within two hundred feet of a house of worship." Cannabis Law § 72(6).

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Compliance with Local Zoning Law

- What implications for regulating cannabis uses?
- Time, place, and manner for cannabis?
- Does zoning paint with too broad a brush?
- Laws addressing certain issues (e.g., noise, lighting and security, odor) of general applicability to all potential uses that may fall within general nursery, agriculture, manufacturing, and warehousing categories or definitions in the zoning code
- Municipalities can also regulate personal cultivation (if opted in).

D. Attorney General Opinions

Attorney General Informal Opinion 2012-1 (Jan. 13, 2012)

- Town of Islip wanted to create a special planning board, in addition to its regular planning board, to review a large development project
- Town has legal authority to create this specialized planning board
  - First, Town Law § 274-a(2) gives towns authority to delegate reviews to other administrative bodies
  - Second, Municipal Home Rule Law § 10 allows a town board to create a special board, and to delegate authority to review site plans to that special board
  - Third, Town Law § 274-a(2) has not been preempted by N.Y. Legislature
- Impact: A town board can create a specialized review board to review plans for a specific development

Attorney General Informal Opinion 2014-6 (Sept. 10, 2014)

- Town of Brookhaven sought clarification on whether Town had authority to spay/neuter dogs and cats at Town animal shelter once redemption period expired
- Municipal Home Rule Law § 10 allows municipalities to adopt laws relating to health, safety, and well-being of persons and property in the municipality unless the law is (1) inconsistent with general state law; (2) inconsistent with the constitution; or (3) the State Legislature expressed an intent to preempt local law on a subject
- Impact: municipalities can set laws relevant to local interests unless preempted by a general state law that applies to all municipalities equally

Attorney General Informal Opinion 2014-2 (Sept. 3, 2014)

- Oneida County wanted to require that security deposits for a rental unit in a building with fewer than six units be placed in an interest-bearing account
- Municipal Home Rule Law § 10 applies, but a general state law exists
  - General law: applies alike to all municipalities of the same form across the state
    - General laws preempt conflicting local laws
  - General Obligations Law § 7-103(2-a) exempts small residential landlords from the requirement to place security deposits in interest bearing accounts; therefore, the County cannot adopt any policy to the contrary
- Impact: municipalities cannot enact laws that conflict with a state general law

Hodgson Russ LLP ATTORNEYS

Committee on Open Government OML AO 560 (Dec. 21, 2018)

- Elaboration on how Open Meetings Law impacts Zoning Board of Appeals deliberations
- Open Meetings Laws have historically exempted "quasi-judicial proceedings." However, this provision was amended, removing the exemption for ZBA deliberations. Now, ZBAs must conduct their meetings in the open just like other public bodies, such as town boards
- Impact: unless another exemption applies, ZBAs must comply with Open Meetings Law
