We are:

Person-Centered – We meet each individual “where they are” and offer opportunities for personal empowerment.

Holistic – We work with the individual to identify and meet their various needs – personal, familial, educational, vocational, health, and other.

Collaborative – We engage in shared decision-making and collective action to facilitate individual, organizational, and community outcomes.

Data-Driven – We use information to guide our work especially as it relates to accessibility, programming, and quality of care.

Future-Oriented - We seek to be equitable and restorative in the ways we work and find solutions that lead to positive change.
